

 - Commodity Research Bureau:
Serving the Futures Industry Since 1934

Since 1934, Commodity Research Bureau (CRB) has been the world's leading commodities and futures research, data, and analysis firm.

CRB delivers information on the futures markets to interested parties via a number of data products, email and print publications, fundamental services and B2B products. It also is home of the CRB Price Index, a global benchmark for measuring commodity price movement and developed by one of CRB's founders, Bill Jiler.

Widely known for its printed charts and technical analysis of the markets, CRB is also the industry leader for its comprehensive database of the entire commodity markets' price history. Subscribers can also obtain Final Markets end-of-day price data, daily Futures Market Service commentary, Electronic Futures Trend Analyzer (EFTA), and daily news summaries via the online CRB DataCenter.
