Co-Location Services for All CME Group Customers: Coming in 2012

This past March, CME Group announced its intent to offer co-location services in 2012. To better serve the needs of our customers around the world, our Co-Location Services will be comprised of hosting, connectivity and support services at our new, state-of-the-art data center.

About the CME Co-Location Services

CME Group is committed to providing the power and space to support customer growth of electronic trading at our new facility, which is located in the Chicago suburbs.

Co-location facilities will be under the management and control of CME Group and will be available to all customers.

The Co-Location facility will house CME Group's trading match engines for all products traded on CME Globex, as we are committed to providing the highest available access to our customers.

- All customers will be treated equitably.
- Pricing will be non-discriminatory and transparent.
- The facility will be environmentally green.

Power and Space

The CME Group Co-Location facility is based on a Tier 3 design with many additional security, fire protection, and infrastructure enhancements. The facility is served by two 138,000 volt transmission quality utility services from two separate generation plants through our privately owned and operated substation. This substation provides for up to 92MW of redundant power (184 MW of power) with a planned initial deployment of 12.5MW of redundant power for the co-location space.

Environmentally Green

The Co-Location facility is environmentally green, and focused on maintaining reliability while saving resources such as electricity and water. We design and operate our data centers in a responsible manner, maximizing the productivity of every watt of power we use, and utilizing construction methods and materials that minimize our environmental impact. By employing cutting edge new technologies in HVAC and electrical distribution equipment, our new facility can provide for more efficient operating costs than traditional co-location facilities, while maximizing reliability and availability for our customers' IT equipment.

Updates on Existing Connections

We will continue to support our existing connectivity offerings including CME LNet and Jackson Direct. A complete list of connectivity options is available online.

Additional details on our CME Co-Location service offering and subscription are planned for Q3 2010.

New Managing Director

CME Group recently hired Craig Mohan to serve as Managing Director, Co-Location and Data Center Services. Mr. Mohan will be responsible for the strategic development, management and overall execution of the company's co-location and data center hosting business, including sales, product development and client services. Futures trading is not suitable for all investors, and involves risk of loss. Futures are a leverage instrument, and because only a percentage of a contract's value is required to trade, it is possible to lose more than the amount of money initially deposited for a futures product.
